EVIDENCE SUMMARY

Evaluation conditions	Signal confidence	Audio quality issues	Distraction risk	Integrity risk
Limited	Low	Moderate	High	High

EVIDENCE

Q1 - Discovery and qualification (52/100; weight 30%): "I usually explain the features first and ask whether the price works. In retail I helped someone compare two products. I have not run a business discovery call or mapped decision-makers, so I would need a process and coaching."

EVIDENCE

Q2 - Pipeline discipline (48/100; weight 25%): "I keep a personal list and contact people when I have time. I have not used a formal opportunity pipeline or forecast model. I would mark a deal likely when a customer seemed interested, but I cannot provide an accuracy example."

EVIDENCE

Q3 - Objection handling (54/100; weight 25%): "I would tell the customer we are the best and try to get a lower price approved. I do not yet know how to compare staffing service levels. I would ask my manager before making a guarantee or offering a discount."

EVIDENCE

Q4 - Client handoff (50/100; weight 20%): "I would send the buyer information to the next team. I have not done an account kickoff and cannot give an example of documenting delivery risks. A checklist would help me know what to include."

LIMITATIONS

- Limited role-specific experience was explicitly acknowledged. Do not equate a low demo score with a general hiring recommendation.
- Synthetic scores are illustrative, not real assessment results.
- All communication, audio, distraction, confidence and risk signals are synthetic display examples. No real audio/video was analyzed.

Integrity risk context

Simulated risk example only; no integrity assessment of a real person occurred.
